

QUEENSCLIFF PADDLE APRIL 2016

Sat 9th saw 12 eager PLCC paddlers meet at Point Lonsdale Lighthouse.

From here overlooking Port Phillip Heads we saw the largest waves rolling through and breaking around our intended launching point.

Plan B saw us relocate to Swan Bay in Queenscliff just behind the Marina.

Graeme provided the entrainment for the Fishing Charter blokes with his wayward seal launch off the jetty requiring a quick Eskimo Roll to right things before moving on.

We paddled out past the Ferry into the Bay with a strong incoming tide and tale wind. Many large breaking waves could be seen along our intended path preventing us circumnavigating Swan Island.

This caused a slow hard return paddle against the incoming tide and head wind.

End result we all had a good workout in the rolling swells, building every ones confidence in a great location.

Lunch at the local Bakery ended a fine day the we are sure to return.

Many thanks to everyone who came along
